when these connections have refused to adopt the Eastern interpretation as anthoritative and conclusive, the Eastern lines have in effect boycotted those of the West and South.

This is truly a serious complication. The Southern roads applied to the Commission for relief, and for the time being it is a been granted. That is, the railroads of the South have been authorized to continue in force the schedules mevailing April I, un-been authorized to centinue in force the schedules prevailing April I, until the Commission can investigate fully the points at issue.

This ruling is not final, though it is of importance. Its vaine lies chiefig in the fact that it shows the Commission to be composed of careful and centions men, who are not to be invested into pulsakes. The intitude and estitions men, who are not to be increed into mistakes. The latitude given them under the law is wide; he responsibility imposed is very grave. The power centerred is, is he Caurler-Journal has beretefore. ine Courier-Journai has heretofore doclarol, greater than should be given to any commission, howover consistented. But the character of the Commission has somewhat reassured the public, and this first ruling proves that the Commissioners appreciate the aerions nature of their duties, and that they will aim to make the law conform as far as possible to the business necessities of each section of the cenntry. In other words, instead of accepting the view suggested by the trunk-line managers, and which in two weeks has done much to arouse wide-spread opposition to the law, they propose to see for themselves how the law can be applied without anhjecting any section to particular hardships, or bringing the law into distance.

(This pullery does not reasons to be in the constitution of the constitution of the constitution of the law into distance.

hardships, or bringing the law into distaver.

This ruling does not remove the fundamental objections the Courier-learned has a pred against the measure. The act is a blow at compelition; it is a blind attempt to chain the power of great economic laws. It is an application to internal commerce of the principles of restriction which are embodied in the tariff, and we believe that in time the people themselves will recognize these tacts.

Nevertheless the rulings of the Commission in the first case presented show the law is to have a fair chance; that all business interests are to have a candid hearing, and that no evile are to be precipitated on the country by hi-considered action. For a time at least competition by railroads with water reutes in the South is not forbiddon.

Catarrh Cured.

Dawson, Ga., Dec. 7, 1886.—For fully nine years I had catarri. For five years I had lt in the very werst form, new ebnoxious that is I need not recount. I was under treatment of one of the mest celebrated oye, ear and threat physiciaus in the United States, but he was mable to do me any good. In despair, I reserted to numerous patent medicines that I saw advertised, but of no avail. Finally, about six mentis ago I began to take S. S. in sheer desporation, but with little hepe and no faith in it. But to-day I am comparatively weil; indeed, I have been so benefitted by the S. S. that, although akeptical of its morits, I am compelled by the benefit I have derived from it, to testify to its mquestioued curative pewers in catarric cases. The best compliment I can pay it la that I have recently recommended it to a number of my warmest personal friends.

The propositions submitted by the Senthorn railreads to the National Commission, involves the points in dispute between the Eastern trunk dispute between the Eastern connections. The trunk-line managers are insisting on the most rigid interpretation of the law, and arcseeking to enforce this interpretation of the law, and arcseeking to enforce this interpretation of the law, and arcseeking to enforce this interpretation of the law, and arcseeking to enforce this interpretation of the law, and arcseeking to enforce this interpretation on all the reads of the country regardless of the local interests involved, as well as of the widely varying circumstances and conditions. It has been suggested that the purpose of the Eastern managers is to make the isw chinexlous, but one need-not seasons for hidden motives in this case; the plain truth is that the rigid enforcement of the interests of railroads where passenger traffe is large and competition on local traffic is severe.

The Eastern'lines have insisted that their Western and Southern connections rearrange their schedules in accordance with the Eastern view, and when these councetions have refused to adopt the Eastern interpretation as anthoritative and conclusive, the

THIS GOOD OLD STAND-BY complishes for everybody stacity what ledalfied fork. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liaiment is found in its nulversal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine. The Liamberman needs it in case of accident. The Unascwife needs it for general family use. The Canaler needs it for his teams and his men. The Mechanic needs it that it was on his work beach.

The Bilectness it in case of emergency.
The Bilectness needs it—can't get stong without it.
The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable,

The Karmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard.

The Bies mhost man of the Healman needs it in liberal supply stock and above.

The Horse-funcier useds it—it is his best friend and safest reliance.

The Sinck-grower useds it—it is his best friend and safest reliance.

The Rinick-grower useds it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble.

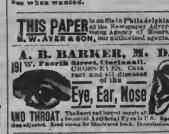

The Rinick-grower useds it and will need it so lear as his life is a round of accelerate and dangers.

The Rinch-woodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidoof for the dangers to Ufe, limb and comfort which surround the jeoner.

The Merckunt useds it about his store among his employers. Accident will happen, and when these come the Kustang Lielment is wanted at once.
